POF Compliance Memorandum Issued

A memorandum was issued in May to ensure compliance with German law on the possession of privately owned firearms. In addition to registering POFs with the U.S. Army Europe Registry of Motor Vehicles, owners must have a Waffenbesitzkarte (German weapons possession card) to comply with German laws. Owners who are not covered by a valid Waffenbesitzkarte or whose firearms are not already stored in an approved location (Rod and Gun Club or unit arms room) will need to move them to one, ship them at personal expense to a storage location outside Germany or arrange for pickup by a U.S. government-contracted carrier for commercial storage at U.S. government expense.

Until then, firearms kept in quarters must be stored unloaded in a double lock-and-key system that is not easily accessible to anyone but the registrant. Gun cases designed for transporting firearms do not qualify. Ammunition must be stored in a locked container separate from the firearm. The entire memorandum is available at www.aeaim.hqusareur.army.mil/library/home.htm.

Stay Hydrated with Tips from SWC

With the temperatures rising, it's important to stay well hydrated. The Stuttgart Wellness Center has provided these tips to help avoid getting dehydrated. Fluids such as water, fruit juice, a mix of half water and fruit juice with a pinch of salt, vegetable juice, milk, smoothies, sports drinks and herbal tea are all suitable for replacing fluids. The high sugar and sodium content of soda pop make it undesirable as a significant source of hydration. Caffeinated beverages and alcohol also not considered good sources of hydration.

Remember, it is possible to drink too much water! When engaging in strenuous activity or prolonged workouts, fluid intake should be monitored carefully. Under these conditions, drinking plain water will not restore the sodium loss, nor will it adequately rehydrate the body. Simply adding a little bit of salt to water or fruit juice can help the body to restore lost sodium. Sports drinks contain sodium, so they are also a great way to quickly restore sodium loss.

Abandoned Vehicles Removal

Owners of five abandoned vehicles parked in the Kelley Barracks parking lot across from buildings 3317 and 3318 need to remove them immediately. The abandoned vehicles are: red Opel, chassis VSX000093E4141A29; red VW, chassis WVVZZZ16ZGW596434; green Audi, chassis 81A0071359; red BMW, chassis WBAAD4103001377606; and a blue Opel, no chassis number. Vehicles not removed by July 22 (extended from June 24) will be destroyed. Owners should contact Ty Stearn, Kelley installation coordinator, at 421-2834/civ. 0711-729-2834 for coordination.
